What problem are we solving?

3 hours: 50-minute lesson, 10-minute break, 50-minute guided practice, 10-minute break, 50-minute applied practice, and 10-minute wrap-up.

SITUATION

The problem

A vague job ad can deter qualified applicants and leave interviewers evaluating personality rather than the work the role requires.

TARGET

Learning goal

Turn real duties into clear job requirements and consistent, job-related interview questions.

Practice material: Use the practice material supplied in the session Markdown.

Use these supplied facts

Do not replace missing information with guesses.

CASE MATERIAL

Practice facts

- A junior customer-support assistant answers email questions, records case details in a spreadsheet, and flags unresolved cases to a supervisor. Required: clear writing and careful recordkeeping. Not required: a specific degree or years of experience.

BOUNDARY

Use the supplied facts

A vague job ad can deter qualified applicants and leave interviewers evaluating personality rather than the work the role requires.

Understand the idea and apply it

Work through the explanation before comparing prompts or starting the exercise.

LEARN

Start a job ad with the work

- The fictional junior support role includes responding to customer emails, recording cases accurately, and escalating unresolved issues. A requirement should connect to one of these duties. "Can record a customer issue clearly" is observable; "dynamic superstar" is vague and does not tell an applicant what work they would do.

LEARN

Separate necessary skills from assumptions

- A skill is supported when it follows from a real duty, such as clear writing for email replies or careful note-taking for case records. Do not add age, personality, degree, or experience requirements unless the supplied role facts justify them. Plain language helps applicants understand what they will be asked to do.

Understand the idea and apply it

Work through the explanation before comparing prompts or starting the exercise.

LEARN

Score the same evidence consistently

- Ask each candidate the same job-related question and use the same short scoring guide. A score should reflect stated steps, such as acknowledging the email, checking the case record, and escalating when unresolved. Do not score accent, confidence, or similarity to the interviewer. If evidence is missing, ask the same follow-up rather than filling the gap with an assumption.

APPLY

Three-step method

- Extract duties and necessary skills; draft plain-language requirements; create a shared question and simple evidence-based scoring guide.

What makes a prompt weak?

These examples come from the current session scenario.

AVOID

Weak example 1

Write an exciting ad for a superstar who can do everything.

AVOID

Weak example 2

Find someone young, energetic, and a perfect culture fit.

A clearer, safer prompt

Keep the source, task, constraints, and output check visible.

USE

Improved example 1

Use only the duties and requirements below. Draft a concise junior job ad
with three duties and three observable skills. Do not add degree, experience,
age, or personality requirements.

USE

Improved example 2

Write one structured interview question about handling an unresolved customer email.
Give a 1-3 guide: 1 = no clear steps; 2 =
describes a reasonable response;
3 = explains response, accurate case notes, and
when to escalate.
Apply the same guide to every candidate.

Exercise 1: Follow the steps

Use the complete case and instructions from the session Markdown.

GUIDED PRACTICE

Exercise 1: Follow the steps

- Generate a short ad from the supplied facts. Highlight each requirement and point to the duty that supports it. Remove any unsupported qualification or vague personality label.

Exercise 2: Try a small variation

Use the complete case and instructions from the session Markdown.

APPLIED PRACTICE

Exercise 2: Try a small variation

- Ask a partner the same question: "Tell me about a time you had to respond carefully when you did not know the answer." Score only the stated steps using the shared guide; do not score accent, confidence, or similarity to yourself.

One report for this session

- Introduction: Explain why a vague job ad and personality-based interviews cause problems.
- Method: Copy the prompts you used to generate the job ad and the interview question.
- Results: Include the job ad with each requirement linked to a supplied duty, the interview question, and the three-level scoring guide.
- Conclusion: Explain what you removed as unsupported, and how the scoring guide keeps the interview job-related.

How to know the work is complete

Check your report before you hand it in.

Success check

- Every requirement maps to a supplied duty, and the interview score is based on job-related evidence.
